QUEER ABODE FOR SNAKES.

A Tiny Species of the Reptiles May Swarm in Your Veins.

What would you think if the family physician should call and after carefully examining your tongue and feeling your pulse calmly inform you that "you have snakes in your blood?" You may laugh at the absurdity of such a notion and of the improbability of ever having such startling words whispered in your ear by your medical adviser, yet it is not at all unlikely that even at this moment you have thousands of wigglers chasing each other up and down your veins. The most important discoveries concerning snakes in the blood have been made during the last nine months, principally in Europe.

Dr. C. W. Stiles of the bureau of animal industry, Washington, is also studying these minute creatures. The blood snake is a small white parasite, which effects an entrance into the veins of man as well as animals through the medium of drinking water. The male snake is about four-fifths of an inch in length, and he constantly keeps himself in the shape of a bow or new moon, the female occupying a miniature groove on the inside of the crescent formed by the male's body.

The male is not larger in diameter than a section of No. 40 spool cotton; the female much smaller, of course, but the damage a few hundred pairs of such parasites may work in an animal's system is truly astonishing. These blood reptiles have been known for centuries, but down to 1893, when Professor Sonsino of Pisa, Italy, began to make their life history and various transformations a scientific study, but little was known regarding them.

Our learned Italian professor says that the eggs of the blood snake, or the larvæ themselves, are found in all kinds of water, especially in Africa and in the orient. After the eggs hatch the snake attaches itself to a microscopic and harmless animalcule. This latter, snake and all, is taken into the stomach in the water. The sudden transformation kills the little animalcule, but fattens the blood snake, which now leaves the stomach or intestines and begins its search for blood vessels.

Once in the veins they breed with amazing rapidity and soon devour the life-giving elements of the sanguine fluid. At first the patient is said to have "poor blood," next he has rheumatism or some other disease, accompanied with excruciating pains. This goes on from bad to worse until the poor victim succumbs to a real case of snakes. The scientists believe that the "fiery serpent" of the exodus was nothing more nor less than a malignant form of snakes in the blood.—St. Louis Republic.

Insulted.

A poet, Chapon by name, about the middle of the present century ended his days in prison for theft. Chapon was indeed an inveterate thief and was apprehended more than once.

At the prison of Ste. Pelagie during his incarceration Chapon once met Felix Pyat, revolutionist and communist, who was generally in prison for some political offense. As political prisoners were generally sent to Ste. Pelagie, and as Chapon was a somewhat pretentious and well educated person, Pyat supposed that he, too, had been sentenced for some revolutionary attempt. So, stepping up to him, he extended both his hands and said, with a friendly smile:

"We, sir, political offenders"——

"I beg your pardon, citizen," said Chapon, straightening up and looking down very coldly on Pyat, "I'm in for stealing, if you please!"—Youth's Companion.

The Pope's Everyday Clothes.

In ordinary everyday costume and when he appears in public on solemn occasions the pope is vested in a costume of white silk. The first bishop of Jerusalem, who was known as St. James the Less, is thought to have been the originator of this style of garment. In the life of this apostle record is made of the fact that he always appeared habited in white garments. According to St. Cyril, the archbishop of Jerusalem, who was also the patriarch of that city, he always appeared in white when he officiated, but an older authority for the use by the pope of the white cassock is that of St. Peter, who is said to have always worn that color because of the shining garments which he saw his Master wear on the occasion of his transfiguration on Mount Tabor.—Rome Letter.

The Triumph of Art.

Not very new, but always amusing. A very old lady looked in at a birdstuffers.

"I am not at all pleased, sir. It is not 12 months since you stuffed my parrot, and its feathers are already beginning to fall off."

"It is the season, madam, and the triumph of our art. I have managed to bring the art of stuffing birds, and especially parrots, to such perfection that they molt exactly as if they were alive!"—Calendrier.

A Radical Difference.

Mrs. Secondwed—You are so unlike my first husband.

Mr. S.—I hope the difference is in my favor, my dear?

Mrs. S.—Oh, it is, very much.

Mr. S.—Thanks. What is it?

Mrs. S.—You're alive.—Detroit Free Press.

FAMOUS BATTLE SONGS.

Two Instances Where the Tide Was Turned by Singing Them.

There are two instances on record of a battle being won by a war song. In the fifth century Germanus, bishop of Auxerre, and Lupus, bishop of Troyes, were sent into Britain to refute the doctrines of Pelagius. During their stay in this island the Picts and Scots, hearing that the Roman legion had been withdrawn, commenced hostilities and drove the Britons from the northern to the more southern parts of the island. Germanus, at the request of the hard pressed islanders, led them against the Picts and Scots, who had advanced as far as Mold, in Flintshire.

The bishop, having been a military commander in his youth, placed his men in an advantageous position and then started one of the songs of the church. This song began at the commencement of the battle, and so vociferously did the Britons sing the refrain, "Hallelujah," that the hills, echoing with the sound, terrified their enemies and caused them to flee in all directions. This was called the Hallelujah victory. The date is fixed by all historians at A. D. 429.

The second instance occurred on the 6th of November, 1792, when the French, under Dumouriez, encountered the Austrians at Jemmapes, in Belgium. The day was going dead against the French, when Dumouriez ran out to the front and raised the "Marseillaise." Forty thousand voices instantly took up the chorus, and inspired by the magic of the battle song the French rallied and fell so furiously upon the Austrians that the tide of battle was completely turned and victory given for defeat.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Young Man's Best Help.

In answer to the question, "What is the best help to young men?" Mr. John Claflin writes:

"I should think that all business men of whom this question is asked would reply, 'Industry.' Surely that is what helps every merchant. I cannot say that I have worked hard myself, in the generally accepted sense of work, but I feel that I have been industrious, and if I have made any success at all I attribute it to unremitting industry. Perhaps also I had business qualities which by development have aided me, but it was industry which helped along the development.

"Industry counts, of course, but not for success or fame unless it is backed by sound moral qualities. If I were asked to tell young men what will help them most to success in business, I would say: Be honest. Be on the lookout for opportunities. If no opportunities arise, make them. Be certain, you are on safe ground and advance cautiously. Be firm in an opinion and hold to a decision once formed. Eat and sleep at regular hours and reduce your whole life to its simplest common denominator."—Demorest's Family Magazine.

Friday Travel.

Not a transatlantic steamship company has Friday among the days of departure, and until quite recently none of the coastwise steamship lines had put the unlucky day on its list. It would be highly desirable for the ocean mail service that some steamships should leave Atlantic ports on Friday, but while the owners are doubtless exempt from any superstition on the subject they are obliged to defer to an absurd popular notion, else they would be apt to find a very small passenger list and might possibly experience some difficulty in obtaining a crew. Railroad statistics show that there is less travel on Friday than on any other secular day of the week. Experienced travelers are so well aware of this they sometimes do not take the trouble to secure a Pullman ticket on Friday, as they are pretty sure to find an empty berth.—Philadelphia Record.

A Stag's Adventure.

The hounds of the Templemore hunt were in full cry over a splendid country three miles from Thurles when a stag ran into the grounds of Lieutenant Colonel Fitzgibbon Trant, a gentleman well known in Dublin, and approaching the house at top speed dashed through one of the lower thick plate glass windows. Although the animal was of good size, he made a hole in the glass little more than the breadth of his antlers and had to rise five feet from the ground to get through. When inside the richly carpeted dining room, he roamed about in search apparently not of a means of escape, but of a hiding place. He got away, however, without a scratch, and beyond alarming the household and destroying the glass no further damage was done.—Westminster Gazette.

Rowing an Adage.

Father—You don't seem to believe in the adage, "Business before pleasure."

Son—Of course I don't.

Father—You ought to. It's an excellent one.

Son—Aw, pop, come off. Doesn't a fellow always court a girl a long time before he goes to see her father?—Detroit Free Press.

In Mourning.

Mrs. Gossip—I presume Mrs. Harpe will forget all about her music now, since her husband died.

Miss Gossip—Oh, no; she still plays, but only on the black keys.—Hullabaloo.

INSURING WOMEN'S LIVES.

The Insurance Companies Do Not Care to Take Them as Risks.

Insuring women's lives has become such a precarious business that insurance companies disapprove of women as risks and have all continued largely the custom of insuring them in favor of their husbands, fearing that men will abuse their opportunities. A writer in The American Woman has been investigating the subject and has gathered some information which may serve to put women on their guard and cause them to be more suspicious of the faithfulness and undying affection of their lords and masters.

The first reason given against women as subjects for life insurance is that they rarely if ever give a true statement of their physical condition. Examinations may find them in apparently perfect health, when in reality they have some incurable disease. If reference is made to their habits of life and manner of dress, they promptly assert that they dress in the most approved and hygienic plan. An officer who may be called cynical goes so far as to state that when women go to have their lives insured they tell only a minimum of the truth. Companies consider it unsafe to insure property which has no insurance value, and take it for granted that a woman's income is not large enough to justify any large amount of insurance.

It seems that the moral risk of insuring women is far greater than the physical—not that the woman herself is morally a risk, but that the avaricious tendencies of her husband make it a hazardous experiment. Permitting a husband to put a money'd value on his wife is fraught with danger which has not been anticipated by loving, unsuspecting wives with their husband's welfare at heart. One large insurance company discovered a great increase in the mortality of their female risks and upon investigation came to the conclusion that men are not to be trusted. While no cases of real murder have been found against these men, physicians were in many cases convinced that with good care many a woman might have lived out her allotted time.

One method among husbands after a wife insures her life is to treat her with neglect, and when she becomes ill attend to it that she has no medical advice until it is too late. This writer adds that "men have been known to marry women, have their lives insured, give them cause for divorce and sell them to other men for the insurance."

Wonders of Chess Combination.

To estimate the actual number of ways of playing even a very few moves in chess is beyond the power of calculation. At first both players have a choice of but 20 moves. The first player has an average of 28, 30 and 35 ways of playing the second, third and fourth moves, respectively. On the hypothesis that the number of "replies" is always the same, no matter what the preceding move may have been, the number of ways of playing the first four moves on one side only would be 318,979,504,000.

Let us assume for convenience of calculation that for the next six moves on each side after the first four there is a choice of 20 ways of playing. We thus get by combination with the result quoted above figures which prove that the number of ways of playing the first 10 moves on each side is 169,518,829,100,544,000,000,000,000,000.

The above figures are quoted from an article on "The Inexhaustibility of Chess" by Edward Anthony, a noted British mathematician.—St. Louis Republic.

Candid, if Not Polite.

Some people have a habit of assenting to everything said to them without regard to rhyme or reason. "Oh, yes," "Certainly," "No, indeed," "Of course," "Yes, indeed," "You are quite right," and the like. Mrs. Hendricks is one of those pleasant people.

"I think," said Mrs. Hobson, who was making a call, "that little Miss Small is one of the stupidest girls I ever met, and"——

"Isn't she?" interrupted Mrs. Hendricks.

"And so plain"——

"Dreadfully."

"Now, I haven't much beauty myself, but"——

"No, indeed," said Mrs. Hendricks cordially.—London Tit-Bits.

He Felt Confused.

"Were you ever arrested before?" asked the judge.

Meandering Mike held his hat before his face and looked sidewise at the court.

"Do ye mean that question, judge?" he asked.

"Why, certainly I mean it."

"Sure?"

"Stop your trifling and answer me!"

"Sense me, yer honor, but I can't git over yer talkin dis appearance tur me debut. Honest, now, judge, do I look like ordud?"—Washington Star.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Presto, veto change! And a new tariff bill makes its bow to the country. First the Wilson bill, second the Vest-Jones-Mills bill, third the caucus-directed Finance Committee bill, and now a new bill which Senator Brice says has been fixed up by Secretary Carlisle, President Cleveland and Senators Jones, Cockrill, Gorman and himself, and which will be supported by all the Democratic Senators. Having at last got together on the tariff the Democratic Senators have now begun the fight to force the bill to a vote, which they say they will do whatever sacrifice it may cost them. The Republicans will have to be driven inch by inch towards a vote. This they have shown since the expiration of the agreement under which the general debate was conducted, and the consideration of the bill by items began. Vice President Stevenson may have to count a quorum in the Senate before the fight is ended, unless forty-three of the forty-four Democratic Senators can be kept in their seats constantly, and that will be a hard thing to do.

There is no excitement over the coming of Coxey's army next week. Both houses of Congress have indicated by the treatment of bills and resolutions that they will do nothing for the army. The Populists in Congress, while not endorsing the movement, favor granting the men a respectful hearing, but there is no probability of their getting it; that is, not in person. They can, of course, get petitions presented. The authorities do not expect to have any trouble with Coxey's army, but they have information that a considerable number of desperate criminals will attempt to come into Washington as members of the army. It is for these last that extra precautions in the way of extra policemen and guards have been taken; the same precautions, by the way, that are always taken to look after inauguration day and other large crowds.

The friends of cheap literature are strong in the House, as was shown by the large vote by which an amendment to the Post Office appropriation bill, proposing to compel the publishers of books in series or libraries, in paper covers, to pay fourth-class postage instead of second-class, as at present, was defeated. It was shown that it costs the Government about $18,000,000 a year more than it receives as second-class postage to carry the second-class matter, but a big majority of the House thought the money well spent. Inasmuch as Canada carries second-class mail matter free of charge the action of the House in refusing to raise the price on American publishers seems right and proper. It will pay better to carry these books for one cent a pound for our own publishers than to carry them for nothing for Canada publishers.

Lovers of sensations were disappointed because Senator Mills, who made the closing speech in the general debate on the tariff bill, did not make a personal attack on Senator Hill. It was stated a week before Mr. Mills made his speech that he had been specially selected by President Cleveland to defend the administration and the tariff bill from the vicious attacks made upon them by Senator Hill. The only direct allusion made by Mr. Mills to the Senator from New York was in connection with the income tax, which Mr. Hill had declared to be socialistic, anarchistic and sectional. Mr. Mills said he had never heard that Mr. Hill when Governor of New York had called on the legislature to repeal the income tax in that State, and asked if such a tax was a fair one for the State of New York, why was it not also a fair one for the United States?

The Press Claims Company of this city is in trouble, which is not surprising to those who know the manner in which it has been doing business. Its manager, Mr. John Wedderburn, is charged, in a bill filed in Court this week by Wm. R. Hearst, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, with several sorts of wrong dealing. Mr. Hearst asks that a receiver be appointed for the company and that Wedderburn be restrained from interfering in any way with its affairs. He says, in his bill, that he was a partner with Wedderburn in the establishment of the "Examiner Bureau of Claims," which made arrangements with the Pioneer Press of St. Paul, Minn., and the Omaha Bee to prosecute claims for their subscribers; that Wedderburn without his knowledge organized the "Press Claims Company" and maintained it at the expense of the "Examiner Bureau"; that he has refused to refund money in accordance with contracts; that he has created a large indebtedness, including a note for $8,000, signed without authority with the firm name; that he has injured the reputation of the San Francisco Examiner by the mismanagement of cases put in his hands, and by sending out circulars offering prizes for inventions, charging competitors an initial fee of $5. Rather a formidable list of charges.

THF ORPHEUM.

Remarkable Vaudeville Attractions.

Visitors to the Midwinter Fair will be interested to known that the Orpheum, San Francisco's great Music Hall, is one of the most popular high-class family resorts in the city. The attractions billed at this house excel anything ever before presented on the Pacific Coast, forming as they do the most refined, original and high-class specialties procurable in this country and Europe.

The Orpheum is crowded to the doors nightly, and no one, according to the popular dictum, is supposed to have seen thoroughly the sights attendant on the Midwinter Fair, who fails to pay it a visit. The entertainment is varied, excellent and clean, and, abounding as it does with specialties of every description, it never fails to fill the spacious theatre with an audience that is either convulsed with merriment or held in wrapt attention. The Orpheum show, in a word, presents the cream of London's, Berlin's, Paris's and New York's artists at every performance, and an evening spent at this famous resort will be treasured as one of the most agreeable and happy events in the experience of every Midwinter Fair visitor from Sonoma county.

Saved Our Boy

A Clergyman's Statement

Constitutional Scrofula Entirely Cured.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen: Wishing to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for us, I will say that 3 years ago we had a beautiful boy born to us. When about six months old he took a sore mouth. Everything that was known as usual remedies in such cases was used. I had two doctors but all to no benefit. At the age of 11 months he breathed his last. Thus we laid in the grave. On Aug. 4, 1891, another boy was born unto us. At the age of two months he became afflicted with the same disease. I believed the boy's trouble was constitutional, and not common sore mouth. I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced to give it regularly to both mother and baby, and occasionly washed his mouth with a syrup of buck brush root. Improvement began at once. We have succeed in eradicating the scrofulous blood from the system and to-day we are blessed with a nice, fat baby boy, eighteen months old. He is the very all life and full of mischief—thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am a minister in the Methodist Protestant church. I am here to back what I say and I am in no way interested in any profit in the matter, except it affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all as a safe, sure remedy. Even my wife, after taking Hoods became healthy and fleshy and has the bloom of girlhood again. We have used only three bottles, but I keep it in the house." REV. J. M. FATE, Brookline Station, Missouri.

On the other Sunday's Episcopal services will be held in the Agua Caliente school house.

While Mr. T. J. Richey of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by all dealers.

The question "where do all the flies come from?" has been solved by a correspondent of the Rochester "Post Express" who says: "The clyclone makes the house fly, the blacksmith makes the fire fly, the carpenter makes the saw fly, the driver makes the horse fly, the grocer makes the sand fly and the boarder makes the butter fly." To which we wish to add that every parent knows that the small boy makes the shoe fly.—Contra Costa Democrat. To which we rise to remark that editors Sam Meyer and Allen Lemmon of this county are making the fur fly.

The Grand Concert to be given at Weyl's Hall on Friday evening, May 25th, by the Sonoma Valley Band will surpass any of the former concerts given by the Band. A programme has been prepared that would do credit to the greatest bands of this country, including Rossini's famous classic overture to the opera, "The Barber of Seville." There are few if any military bands outside of the profession that care to attempt the rendition of such high-class music, as most amateurs do not care to give the time and study neccessary to a successful rendition of such music. *

NEW CITY TRUSTEES.

J. H. Seipp Chosen President—A Harmonious Meeting.

The newly-elected members of the Board of City Trustees, Messrs. Poppe and Ludeman, took their seats at a regular meeting of the Board held last Wednesday evening. The Board is now composed of the following gentlemen: J. H. Seipp, S. Schocken, J. E. Poppe, V. Bulotti and John Ludeman.

The meeting, which was a most harmonious one, was called to order by Clerk Breitenbach, who informed the Board that the election of a presiding officer was first in order.

Trustee Schocken then nominated J. H. Seipp for President and Trustee Ludeman nominated J. E. Poppe.

A ballot was then taken with the following result; Seipp, 3; Poppe, 1; blank, 1.

Thereupon Trustee Seipp was declared elected and immediately entered upon his duties as the presiding officer of the Board.

The bonds of the newly-elected Clerk, Marshal and Treasurer were approved and ordered filed.

When the usual monthly bills against the city came up for consideration it was found that there was not sufficient money in the treasury to meet all the demands. It was thereupon decided to pay a portion of the claims this month and the balance at the June meeting, when there will be ample funds in the hands of Treasurer Cornelius to pay the bills.

The President appointed the following committees:

Street—Trustees Bulotti and Schocken.

Plaza and Cemetery—Trustees Poppe and Ludeman.

Fire and Water—Trustees Schocken and Bulotti.

Finance and Legislation—Ludeman and Poppe.

Ordinance No. 45, fixing water rates in this city, was read a second time and finally passed.

The sum of $10 per month was allowed G. S. Harris for street sprinkling.

The Napa-street bridge was ordered to be repaired by the Street Committee.

The Clerk was authorized to order assessment blanks or any other blanks or printing at the office of the Sonoma INDEX-TRIBUNE when needed by the city.

The attention of the Board was called by City Marshal Robin to the necessity of building a jail or lock up. No definite action was taken in the matter, however, and the question will again come up for discussion at the next meeting of the Board. The following bills were allowed and ordered paid: A. J. Van Every, constructing curbing, $97.20; F. Breitenbach, salary and services, $33; G. W. Sparks, salary, $9; George Spanning, street work, $24.50; Wm. Switzer, grading, $28. The Board then adjourned.

THE FRUIT OUTLOOK.

Over Twenty Cash Buyers in the Field.

The outlook for a profitable market for California fruit of all kinds this season has not been so promising in this State for many years. At the present time there are at least twenty buyers in the field. Many of these represent Eastern firms. Already almost the entire peach and pear crop of Sacramento and other counties has been contracted for on a cash basis. It is expected that many of these buyers will shortly make their appearance in Sonoma Valley, as there is going to be a big demand for California fruits in the East this year owing to a failure of the fruit crop in the Eastern and Middle States. As there will be a big yield of fruit of all kinds in this valley this season our orchardists will no doubt reap a rich harvest.

A Senseless Kick.

There are always people in every community who are inclined to "kick" on general principles. Santa Rosa is no exception to the rule. Just now one or two of these gentry are venting their spleen against Manager Close of the Sonoma County Exhibit at the Midwinter Fair, than whom no better man could have been selected for the position. These "kickers" charge that gentleman with being absent from the Sonoma booth and with a neglect of duty. In so far as the people of Sonoma Valley are concerned, when visiting the Fair they have always found Mr. Close "on deck" and ready to advance the interests of Sonoma county, and he is considered the right man in the right place. His only fault appears to be that instead of setting forth the advantages of Santa Rosa exclusively he is doing the fair thing toward the whole county, regardless of any particular section. The object of these "kickers" is to get his $100 per month position away from him and make it a Santa Rosa exhibit. See?

THE POLITICAL POT.

It Has Commenced to Simmer—Some of the Aspirants for Political Honors.

The political pot has already commenced to simmer and will soon reach the boiling point in this county. Already a number of candidates have come out and proclaimed themselves or are being "boomed" by friends and admirers.

A Santa Rosa Democrat reporter lately interviewed a number of leading Republicans and Democrats from various parts of the county in regard to the coming political contest in this county with the result that for Senator the Democrats seem to be agreed upon Hon. J. C. Sims of Santa Rosa. There are several Republicans mentioned for the office, among them being Sam Cassidy of Petaluma, J. W. Ragsdale, Santa Rosa; J. C. Holloway of Cloverdale and J. D. Barnett, Santa Rosa.

For Sheriff, Dave Wall of Petaluma, J. D. Barnett of Santa Rosa and Sam I. Allen, the present incumbent are aspirants. It is generally conceded, however, that Sam is entitled to a renomination. The Democratic candidates are Logan Tombs of Healdsburg, W. J. Hotchkiss of Russian River, George Zimmerman of Petaluma and Press Davis of Santa Rosa.

For County Clerk the Democrats want W. F. Wines and the Republicans Somers B. Fulton, both of Santa Rosa, and who were pitted against one another for the same office two years ago.

For Recorder and Auditor there will be several aspirants before the Republican Convention, among whom we may mention E. C. Overman and A. J. Atchinson of Petaluma and Walter Davis of Santa Rosa. The Democratic candidates are Will Poole of Santa Rosa and Henry Ungewitter of Guerneville.

For District Attorney Robert Poppe of Sonoma is mentioned by Republicans, the other gentlemen being Lyman Green of Petaluma, and A. G. Burnett of Santa Rosa. The Democrats will nominate Emmet Seawell, who will have no one opposed to him in the convention.

For Treasurer the Democrats are urging the claims of Capt. Stofen and W. B. Griggs, both of Santa Rosa. The Republicans of Santa Rosa want Mayor Woodward of that city.

For Assessor the Republicans are mentioning T. C. Putnam of Vallejo Township. Frank Dowd of the same township will receive the Democratic nomination if Billy Longmore of Santa Rosa don't want the office.

For Superintendent of Schools the Democratic aspirants are Prof. A. C. Abshire, Principal of the Sonoma High School, and T. D. Ward of Santa Rosa. The Republicans who yearn for the office are Fannie McG. Martin of Santa Rosa, who is aspiring for a third term, and Prof Neilson of Sebastopol.

Pistols and Coffee for Two.

Editor Sam Meyer of the Healdsburg Tribune and Editor Lemmon of the Santa Rosa Republican have been calling each other liars, blackmailers, etc., the past week. Mr. Meyer accused Mr. Lemmon of "hogging" the Republican county printing by bulldosing tactics. Whereat the irate editor of the Republican calls Editor Meyer a liar and in his impotent rage accuses him of blackmailing Republican county candidates. To this charge the Healdsburg man squeezes the Santa Rosa Lemmon by saying "you're another." At latest accounts the editorial combat was waxing hot with plenty of gore and Lemmon juice in sight.

Extra Service.

The San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company for the better accommodation of the patrons of the road have established an extra Saturday and Monday train service. The train leaving San Francisco at 5:10 P. M. on Saturdays and 5 P. M. on Sundays will now run through to Cloverdale. Returning one of these trains will leave Cloverdale on Sundays at 6:45 A. M., arriving in San Francisco at 10:40 A. M. and the other will leave Cloverdale on Mondays at 5 A. M. and arrive in San Francisco at 8:50 A. M.

Important to Fruit Growers.

A mass meeting of fruit growers is called to meet at Horticultural Hall, Santa Rosa, on Wednesday, May 9th, to perfect an organization for marketing dried fruits and for co-operating with the California Fruit Exchange in all matters affecting the fruit industry of this State. The principal officers of the State Fruit Exchange will be present and take part in the discussion.

Visitors to Sonoma on business or pleasure will find the Sonoma House as conducted by Harry Fisheer the hotel of Sonoma. *

Among the beautiful blossoms were some twenty-four different varieties of roses, all of which were grown in the Carriger nursery. Mrs. Carriger has spent much time and money in the culture of choice plants and flowers, and to-day her place, which is located a few miles west of town is one of the greatest attractions of this famous valley.

The invitation May-day picnic given by Mrs. E. K. Stevenot to her friends and acquaintances was in every way a decided success. The beautiful grove was kindly put at the disposal of the above lady by Mrs. Maxwell, and long before 10 o'clock, the hour set for all to be present, a large number of ladies and children had assembled and by noon 118 of the invited guests had arrived, each laden with a basket or box of lunch which they spread upon snowy white tablecloths that had been placed upon the green grass in the shade of the tall trees that grow so luxuriant on these lovely grounds. After lunch the guests listened to a programme of literary exercises which had been arranged by the children. Hammocks and swings were put up for the amusement of the little ones, and all were merry and glad on that bright and lovely day.

The ball given by the Sonoma Turn Verein at Union Hall last Tuesday evening was a success in every sense of the word. A large delegation of Napa and Petaluma Turners were present. About sixty couple participated in the grand march. The floor was under the able management of Mr. Robert Pasche, who was voted by every one present, and particularly the ladies, to be one of the best floor managers that has ever appeared on the floor of a ball room in this town. The committee having the affair in hand, Messrs. C. Haderman, Robt. Pasche and George Spanning, were also complimented for the tasteful manner in which the hall was decorated and for the excellent music selected for the occasion. Landlord Enke and his sister Mrs. Jones set a splendid spread before the guests, to which ample justice was done.

Few fruits have proved so useful in the family as the tomato, which fifty years ago was hardly known at all, and which, only a generation since, was more a curiosity than an object of use. Not only can this plant be raised successfully on almost any soil, and even in window boxes and in its own abandoned and dishonored cans, but when picked green it can be forwarded long distances, being firm to resist injury from jarring, and improving the time by ripening on the way. In summer in its fresh ripeness it makes one of the most cooling salads that we have, and one of the most piquant sauces. It is canned by every prudent house-keeper for winter use, giving in time of snow a taste of summer to the table. It makes, chopped with onions and peppers, a fine and lasting pickle, and put up and boiled with sugar, slices of lemon and ginger root, it makes a preserve rivaling the most toothsome East India sweetmeats.

Harry Fisheer, proprietor of the Sonoma House, has been confined to his room the past week with a severe spell of sickness.

The 4th of July picnic will be held this year at Pioneer Grove under the auspices of the Sonoma Valley Brass Band.

There is a great deal of uncertainty as to whether it is or is not the thing to fold the napkin after a formal meal. If one is staying in the house and knows that napkin rings are in use, it seems a reflection upon that custom to fling the napkin down in an untidy heap. An elegantly-appointed table deserves better treatment, even at the end of the meal, than those disheveled piles of drapery, too. Therefore it always seems fittest to simply half fold the napkin and not attract attention to it either by one obtrusive habit or the other.

Schellville, April 27th, 1894.

Friend—How are you succeeding at literature?

Writer—Very well. Last year I made enough to pay for postage stamps, and this year I hope to realize enough to pay for paper and ink.

Robbie—If you direct your letter that way, Thad, it will not stand the ghost of a chance to reach Uncle John.

Thad—The ghost of a chance? Why, of course it will, for it'll go through the dead-letter office.

EXASPERATING READERS.

A Class of Persons to Whom Everything Always Appears to Be New.

It is not only true that there are persons who read only the newspapers, but read them very thoroughly. It is perfectly amazing how long they take over it, especially in clubs. I noticed the other day what I am sure was a naturally hereditary old gentleman waiting for an evening paper, which was "in hand," and going through the whole gamut of human passion from impatience to despair. He was one of those persons who talk to themselves, and under the circumstances unnecessarily loud.

At first he was almost placid. "I suppose he will have done with it presently," he muttered. Then, "Why, the man must be reading the advertisements!" then, "Why, the fellow must be learning it by heart;" then, "The wretch must be doing it on purpose," and then, "At last!" when it was put down, and he fell upon it like a tiger.

I am sorry to say this was not the end of it, for finding, after all, that it was an evening paper of the day before, which, we may be sure, he had read, he uttered a word beginning with a very big D that electrified the reading room.

The other man probably did not care about the date of his paper. He only wanted to read something continuously, as an insect devours a leaf without heed to the details of its construction. It is the same class of person (though he thinks himself very superior) who boasts that he reads Horace or Montaigne every year, right through. They have not the faculty of attention, and therefore each time it is new to them.

When I was a boy, I was not mischievous like other boys, but benevolent. One of my little amusements was to take out the bookmarker of my uncle's favorite volume and put it back about 50 pages every day. By this means, instead of its lasting him only six months or so, I prolonged his pleasure for perhaps a year and a half.—James Pain in London Illustrated News.

A Suction Sand Dredge.

A notable work in its line is described in The Engineering News—namely, a suction sand dredge with a capacity of 4,000 tons per hour, built by the Naval Construction and Armament company of Barrow-in-Furness, England, for operations on the Mersey bar. The sand pumping machinery consists of two centrifugal pumps with 36 inch suction and delivery pipes. These pumps are on each side of a well and draw from a T head at the top of the suction pipe, and around this head as a trunnion the tube can be raised or lowered to suit the depth of the water, and a ball and socket joint gives a certain amount of lateral motion. The suction nozzle is turned over at the bottom, with its aperture almost at right angles to the axis of the tube.

The hull of the dredge is 325 feet long by about 50 feet 6 inches deep and 46 feet 10 inches wide, the loaded draft being 16 feet and 4 inches. She has twin screw engines and a speed of 10 knots loaded. The sand is pumped into hoppers, and operations show that the latter may be filled at the rate of 100 tons per minute.

And She Thanked Him.

A man whose facial expression indicated that he was at war with all mankind, himself probably included, boarded a State street motor car in which there was a seat for only one more. This he took. Shortly afterward a young woman entered. There was no seat left for her. Seven men stared intently at their toes, and three others became interested in thought. The man with the warlike face rose and offered his seat. The young woman smiled pleasantly and said "Thank you."

Then the man who had given up his seat went out, slammed the door after him and got off the car in such a hurry that he turned several back somersaults before he stopped. He was a humorist who had often written paragraphs about women who do not thank men who give up their seats in street cars.—Albany Express.

Quite a Feat.

He—How could you, base, deceiving girl, when every one knows we were engaged, act as you have? You asked that odious Jack Harkins to call on you, went to the theater with him, accepted a ring from him and allowed your engagement with him to be published. Then you send for me and tell me that you loved me all the time, even after you did all those things.

She—Then you don't love me if you talk that way.

"What"——

"I only did those things to test your love."—Boston Traveller.

A Musical Club.

One of the toasts at the Young Men's club of Rollstone church, Fitchburg, was, "The music of the church, and what the club can do to improve it." We should think a club properly used might be very beneficial in some church choirs.—Boston Bulletin.

A Lack of Girls In China.

Pastor Gottschalk of the Berlin Foundling house in Hong-Kong draws a somber picture of the effects of the custom of polygamy among the Chinese. Among these is a lack of marriageable girls. At present girls are sold at a very high price. A girl of 14 to 16 can scarcely be purchased for less than $100—a price which, as Herr Gottschalk quaintly says, "poor people can ill afford." Some buy for their infant son an infant wife, who is occasionally nursed at the same breast as her future husband. If this economical device fails, the matter is regarded as serious, as they may have no offspring to perform the sacrifices at their tombs.

Young girls, adds Mr. Gottschalk, dare not leave their homes for fear of being kidnaped, as they not infrequently are. In a place one day's journey from Hong Kong three or four years ago 20 young girls were stolen in a night, taken on board a junk and carried no one knew whither. Unfortunately the Berlin Foundling house derives no benefit from the brisk demand for marriageable girls, partly because the institution limits its choice of suitors to Chinese Christians, and partly because there is in China a superstitious belief that an evil fate hangs over a foundling girl.—London News.

Where the Lawyers Sat.

The circuit court was sitting in a New Hampshire town. It was a cold evening, and a crowd of lawyers had seated themselves around the hearth in the village inn when a belated traveler, benumbed with cold, entered the room. As none of the lawyers offered to make room near the fire, he sat in the back part of the room.

A smart young lawyer addressed him, and the following dialogue took place:

"You look like a traveler."

"Well, I suppose I am. I came all the way from Wisconsin afoot, at any rate."

"From Wisconsin? What a long distance you had to travel!"

"Waal, I did jit anyhow."

"Did you ever pass through hell in any of your journeys?"

"Yes, sir. I passed through the outskirts."

"I thought likely. Could you tell us what are the manners and customs of that place? Several of us would like to know."

"Oh, you will find them the same as in this place. The lawyers always sit nearest to the fire."—Boston Herald.

Great In English Clubs.

How much better than ours is the English system of no credit in clubs, beyond the next day! It doesn't make any difference whether you have spent sixpence on a "monkey," whether you have lost a half penny or a fortune at cards, you cannot go on ordering drinks or dinner or playing whist or "bac" until you have paid the obligations of the previous day. This is a strict law that applies to the Duke of Westminster as well as to the poorest clerk in a government office.

There is never any discrimination or hard feeling engendered. There is the law. Every one knows it has got to be obeyed, and it has the double advantage of protecting the club treasury and of putting an effectual stop to gambling debts and wild extravagance, so far as clubs are concerned. A man may owe his tailor, bootmaker or bookmaker thousands of dollars, but if he is "shy" on his club's books he is disgraced forever.—Cholly Knickerbocker in New York Recorder.

A Pleasant Party.

A Mr. A. of Dublin, who was famous for his cook and his wines, gave a dinner at which a few of the most agreeable men of the city met and spent a delightful evening. Not long after one of these guests—Chief Justice Doherty—met the host and said to him, "What a pleasant party we had with you last Tuesday!" "Do you call that a pleasant party?" said A. "I don't." "Why not?" said the chief justice. "Too much talk—too much talk; you couldn't enjoy your wine. You drank little more than a bottle each. On Wednesday I had nine men to dinner, and they drank three bottles a man, and you'd have heard a pin drop the whole time. That's what I call a pleasant party."—San Francisco Argonaut.

English Wedding Gifts.

In England it is customary to print a list of the gifts at weddings of any social importance whatever, and the practice has developed the "exchanger." This person studies carefully the published lists, and when the bride is estab lished in her new home he calls upon her and discreetly suggests how duplicates among her presents may be judiciously exchanged or purchased, in this way superfluous butter knives, syrup jugs and the rest of the traditional repetitions, which are called by another name for the moment, are eliminated.—New York Times.

Political Enterprise.

"Jones and Brown ran for the same office, didn't they?"

"That's what."

"Which beat?"

"Jones, but he dropped dead next day."

"And what did Brown do then?"

"Ran for coroner and sat on Jones."—Atlanta Constitution.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consult for the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying the loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
